No Verdict Is Given On Woman Authorities Await Autopsy Report, Suspect Exposure

A verdict is still pending in the death of Rose Green, 46, of Newburgh, whose body was found Monday morning in an orchard near the Hepworth Fruit Farm

District Attorney Raymond J. Mino said the authorities were awaiting the complete autopsy report. Death apparently was from exposure since there were no serious wounds found on the

The story as reconstructed by State Police, District Attorney Mino and Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torraca who questioned several men who were members of an all-day drinking party Sunday indicates the woman lay in the orchard overnight.

Four men and Rose Green began a drinking party Sunday morning which apparently extended throughout the day.

About 9 p. m. Johanna Howard, 29, observed her husband's car parked in the orchard, As she approached three of the men

Dragged From Car

According to members of the party, Mrs. Howard attacked the woman, striking her with a small flashlight and dragging her from the car. Mrs. Howard then left with the car.

Harold Watkins, one of the men who had been in the party, reported early Monday morning that when he awoke in the orthe body of Rose Green lying near the place where the car had been parked. She was dead.

NATURAL GAS

for house heating!

SAFE - COMFORTABLE

Natural Gas is listed by the National Board of Fire Underwriters as having the best safety record of any automatic heat. And automatic Natural Gas stays at exactly the heat you set.

DEPENDABLE - ECONOMICAL

Simple design, cleanest fuel, never-failing supply, add up to the most dependable automatic heat. And counting all the costs, Natural Gas costs no more than less desirable fuels.

QUIET - LONG LIFE

No rumble or roar with steady, silent Natural Gas heat. And many Natural Gas heaters, because of rugged design and few moving parts, are still going strong long after more expensive and complicated burners have been junked.

When the best costs no more why settle for less?

union's demand for a specific work-week schedule for each employe who works on a five-out-of-seven-day week. It is reported the Knaust Bros. has of-fered a five-cent hourly wage increase effective Sept. 1, 1960, to be followed by five-cent increases, March 1, 1961, and March 1, 1962.

The union reportedly wants more on the latter two dates.

TACT VS. TRUTH

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is a firm believer in telling the truth at all times even when the truth means hurting someone's feelings. When someone asks him if he likes something, he tells them exactly what he thinks whether it is complimentary or not. I, on the other hand, always say something is nice whether I think so or not. We have had many an argument over this and whenever someone asks his opinion about something I hold my breath in fear of what he is going to say. Doesn't courtesy exact that we say something is nice even if we don't think so rather than offend someone?

Answer: You certainly avoid saying something that is disagreeable when you possibly can, Warner of Schenectady, anbut you don't tell lies in order nounce the engagement of their but you don't tell lies in order to be polite. In other words, you evade the truth by finding something pleasant to say about whatever it is that isn't a lie.

Playoff Tilt SaVino Wins Honors As 'Most Valuable' In Loop for Season

> BY ED PALLADINO Freeman Sports Staff

What promised to be a close playoff game between two top squads was turned into a rout last night at the Wappingers Central School gym as Arlington High School won the DSCL championship with an easy 73-49 verdict over Saugerties.

While more than 850 fans with mixed emotions watched, Coach Fritz Jordan's cagers put together a string of 11 quick to give the Jesters a 32-31 verpoints in the first period to take the lead for keeps. PHS, Monties to Meet In Crucial DUSO Tilt

Riding the crest of a ten-game winning streak in DUSO League play, the Poughkeepsie Pioneers will aim to virtually clinch the championship tonight at the Bridge City court when they tackle dangerous Monticello in a game that promises to be a sellout.

This one is definitely the biggest contest this season in the circuit and one of two things can happen. A win by Poughkeepsie will all but clinch the title since all the Pioneers will have to do is decision hapless Port Jervis Thursday night. If the Monties win, the race will be thrown into a triple tie for the top spot and a playoff will have to take place. In case of a Monticello victory (and many observers are giving the Monties a good chance), the three clubs involved (Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Monticello), will have a drawing on Wednesday and the playoffs will probably start Friday night. The Pioneers won, 72-67, in the season's opener at the Panthers' court. They are shaky favorites to win this one and climax a comeback season. As of Jan. 5, Poughkeepsie was only 2-2 in league play. Since that time, it has been unbeaten, Coach Sam J. Kalloch will depend on Bob Boschen, Jimmy Gordon and Steve Albrecht, plus sophomore Ty Elting and steady Billy

James. The Monties feature high scoring Leo Armstead and Steve Schumer plus George Cooke, Bob Bogner and Jerry McCoy. The jayvee game is listed to 6:30 and if you want one of the 1,600 seats available get there early.

Ageless Warren Spahn, adding credence to the belief he is the best lefthander in the history of the National League, extended his record of "most shutouts by a lefthanded pitcher" to 47 in 1959. The Brave veteran tossed four whitewashes to widen the edge he already held over Eppa Rixey and Larry French, who each pitched 40 shutouts in their baseball lifetimes. The great Carl Hubbell shut out the opposition 36 times during his brilliant career. Spahn is now tied for sixth on the all-time list. Funeral Is Set In South Carolina For Ex-FBI Man

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP) - Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Melvin Purvis, the famous FBI manhunter who died by his own hand.

The 56-year-old former FBI agent, depressed and in ill health, shot himself Monday at his home. Following services at St. John's

Episcopal church, he will be buried in Mount Hope Cemetery. Purvis, who weighed only 127 pounds and stood 5-foot-7, gained national fame when he led a team of FBI agents that shot down John Dillinger and Pretty Boy Floyd during the 1930s. He later left the service, returned to law practice and at his death, owned Florence

Selecting Room Air Conditioner

The impossibility of being all things to all men at once is nowhere more evident than in the case of a single room air condi-

If it's powerful enough to cool a "problem" room, it is probably too noisy (because of greater air velocity) for the bedroom. Or it takes more current than the house wiring provides. Or it cuts inches off the view through a favorite window.

Solving the problem of finding 'just the right room air conditioner" is possible only by having a choice of models to do different jobs, in the opinion of General Electric engineers and designers. Accordingly, for 1960 they have produced a wide range of 14 models to fit every need.

They range from a very quiet unit which won't disturb the lightest sleeper, and uses so little current it can be used with adequate 115-volt house outlets, to a 2-horsepower unit with 16,-000 BTU's cooling capacity. The 1960 line also includes a new $1\frac{1}{2}$ horsepower All-Weather heat pump air conditioner. General Electric heat pumps not only cool in the summer but heat in the winter, using the economical reverse-cycle principle with reliable resistance heat for colder weather.

There are three Deluxe models (one is described as "whisper quiet") with BTU outputs ranging from 6,500 to 10,000. A Custom model (8500 BTU) has distinctive, modern design and a host of features including a 6position performance selector, Stale air exhaust, and automatic temperature control. Two Supreme models (9500 and 11,000 BTU capacity) combines big cooling and extra quiet operation. One operates on an adequate 115volt outlet while the other (with higher capacity) requires 230

A Special low-cost model (8500 BTU on 230 volts) provides dependable cooling in a low-silhouette case. Two Super units offer 13,000 or 16,000 BTU cooling for large or open living areas and unusual heat loads.

Exclusive in the General Electric room air conditioner line are two Built-In models with decorator interior baffles. These are designed for through-the-wall installation, and they both feature plain vertical front panels which can be painted or papered or covered with wood or other material to match or harmonize with the Completing the model range are three All-Weather heat pump units. An 8,000 BTU model operates on on 115-volt current; the other two, with cooling capacities of 10,000 and 12,000 BTU's, use 230 volts. Heat pump air conditioners are ideal for enclosed porches and other hard-to-heat areas, and, in many climates, are Appliance, whatever the season and should stay free of heat rashes or ill humor all summer, thanks to the new General Electric Thinline air conditioner. The cabinet of this Deluxe model is the fashion-wise nutria tone. When installed flush with the drapes, it takes away no needed space from the room. General Electric is offering the Deluxe in three models during 1960; an extra-quiet 6500 BTU model and a 7500 BTU model (bith operate on adequate 115-volt house current); and 10,000 BTU, 230-volt model.

fully adequate to do the entire heating job.

All General Electric models are built in the world's most modern air conditioner factory at Appliance Park in Louisville, Ken-Every unit is capacity tested and must achieve proper cooling capacity before it leaves the factory. Eighty-five other rigid standards must be met or surpassed before shipment.

New Built-in Oven And Surface Unit

Professional decorators say that one of the easiest and least expensive ways to brighten up a kitchen (outside of a new coat of paint) is to install a new built-in oven and surface unit.

THE 'BULL' MARKET IS NOT OVER

Sagging stock prices are a harbinger of a depression in the minds of many uncertain investors. Some of these beliefs extend back into the 30's, following the 16-million share day on the New York Stock Exchange in October, 1929.

Sad memories of that fearful occasion still haunt people, And in 1960 they can see similarities between the behavior of the market then and now. In fact, it is not too difficult for a stock market pessimist to build a logical case for himself.

I have just returned from a three week coast-to-coast speaking trip. Everywhere I found clear evidence of such beliefs. I did what I could to combat them.

Economic America in 1960 has a vastly different base than she had in 1930. True there are plenty of deflationary forces around. But with our country geared up the way it is, and with governmental financial responsibility so vast, stern controls of these depression factors are necessary.

So I say the "bull" market in stocks is not over. Stock prices may sag lower, but their collapse after the pattern of 1929-1933 national prosperity. Since any just will not occur. A quick review of national economic events will show why an extended depression is not upon us.

Mobile Model Of Dishwasher

New Kelvinator dishwashers for 1960 include a mobile model that rolls out of the way when not in use, and a free-standing or built-in model with a capacity of 12 full place settings.

The mobile model requires no installation—just one connection to the kitchen faucet and plug it in, and it is ready to do every dishwashing chore automatically.

The free-standing or built-in model matches Kelvinator's other built-in and free-standing appliances. As a built-in it is available in a choice of front panel colors including brushed chrome, Bermuda pink, surf turquoise, buttercup yellow and Aztec copper, plus white.

The new Kelvinator multi-cycle automatic dishwasher performs all dishwashing chores through a selection of cycles.

Theres' a cycle for normal loads, an extended wash for extra dirty or heavy-duty loads, and a pot and pan soak. There is also an automatic pre-rinse, and a warming cycle to heat dishes before serving.

The 1960 model has a re-designed, one-dial control that is waist-high for convenient operation. Once the dial has been set for the desired cycle, a highvelocity spray of detergent and water whisks food stains and soil away from dish surfaces and sil-

A revolving impeller, surrounded by a stainless steel enclosure screen and vinyl-covered, creates the powerful washing and rinsing action of the water. Proper water temperature is maintained by a 1000-watt heating element in the bottom of the washing compart-ment. The drying cycle may also be used to preheat dishes before serving meals.

The new roll-out top rack re-volves by water action during the washing and rinsing cycles-like a lazy Susan-to insure that the highvelocity water and detergent spray gets into all parts and crevices of the dishes. This top rack adjusts up or down to accommodate large plates, extra-tall glasses or oddshaped utensils.

Bottom rack rolls out on nylon rollers for easy access to dishes in the back. Soft, resilient vinyl covers both the bottom rack and the revolving top rack to cushion dishes and prevent chipping and

The silverware basket keeps tableware in upright position for maximum cleansing. Basket lifts out of the bottom roll-out rack for convenience in loading and unload-

A built-in dispenser in the door automatically distributes detergent during the washing cycle. Door latch control stops dishwashing action before door is opened to guard against water splashing on user or into kitchen.

Normal washing cycle is 39 minutes with seven gallons of water used. Cycle includes a pre-rinse, seven-minute wash, a two-minute rinse and a six-minute rinse and 17 minutes for drying.

Electric and Gas Refrigerator - Freezer

Three 1960 electric and gas refrigerator-freezers were shown by the Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp. at the Chicago Home Furnishings Market in the Merchandise Mart. All three models have a built-in automatic ice cube server, new styling and a "Never-D-Frost" refrigerator with separate freezer compartment. The gas model (CTGI-110) marks the entry of Norge into the gas refrigerator field. This unit will be manufactured starting late in January and marketed shortly thereafter. No suggested cash retail price has been set yet.

The electric two-door model CTI-F13 carries a suggested retail price of $429.95 and that of the electric CBSI-15 a $529.95 retail tag.

This model and both the and electric types have the built-in automatic ice server which fills itself from a plumbed-in water supply. After the ice cubes freeze they automatically drop into a storage bin. When the bin is filled the server shuts off automatically.

Most persons buy refrigerators, washing machines and stoves because of an urgent or immediate need: they moved, got married, had children, or saw their old appliances break down. Make Your Home Happier with a New Appliance.

this new 13-cubic-foot Frigidaire refrigerator-freezer. Frost-proof freezing system completely eliminates messy defrosting. Foods come out of the freezer looking and tasting just as they did when stored, and there's no shower of frost on the floor when packages are removed. Because there's never any space-robbing frost in this freezer, it always holds full capacity, 96 pounds of frozen food. New sculptured sheer look of refrigerator is superb blend of classic, squared-up styling lines combined with a decorative touch of new open-circle filigree and subtle metal sculpturing on door and base panels. Note gem-like appearance of door handle.

UNDERCOUNTER COMBINATION - Phileo Corporation introduced at the January Market in the Merchandise Mart a new undercounter combination washer-dryer; "Duomatic" Model CE-700U, that is simple to install under any standard 36-inch high counter and requires only 27-inches of space. The undercounter "Duomatic" requires no venting since lint and moist air from the dryer cycle are flushed down the drain. Installation of the machine is simplified and provision is made for six different methods of "hooking up" water and power lines. The "Duomatic" requires no bolts, screws or complicated floor preparation for installation. It slides out for easy servicing. The new model is ideal for mobile homes because of its compact size and exclusive Philco "Safety-Transi-Lok" which prevents movement of the machine when the

Food Freezer Line for 1960

Hotpoint's 1960 food freezer line consists of three upright and four chest type freezers.

Newest of the line is a 18 cu. ft. two door upright freezer (FR18A) which holds 616 lbs. of frozen foods at zero temperatures. The upper section holds 382 lbs. and the lower section 234 lbs. of frozen foods.

This 18 cu. ft. freezer fits into a floor space of a 12 cu. ft. freezer. Hotpoint has been able to squeeze extra capacity into this freezer because of a new insulation that's 50 per cent thinner than previous types. The new 18 cu. ft. freezer walls are only 1½ inches thick.

The freezer basket on the bottom section of the new 18 cu. ft, upright swings out as does the freezer basket on the match-.8 cu. ft. combination refrigerator-freezer CP18A.

Features of the 18 cu. ft. upright include automatic temperature control, seven door shelves for greater storage flexibility, special juice rack that loads from the top and dispenses from container which holds 5 dozen cubes, locks for both doors and

New Fresh Food Storage Area

Philco Corporation today introduced eight new combination refrigerator-freezer models for 1960, including Model 18RM08, which incorporates the "Air Wrap" fresh food storage compartment, that literally wraps fresh foods in air for safer, longer storage of such foods.

The new system is the result of five years research and development work in the field of fresh food storage by Philco's can be kept fresh and safe for as long as 14 days in the new com-

The "Air Wrap" compartment meets three optimum conditions for fresh food storage, namely a compartment which will maintain a temperature at the threshold of freezing, maximum humidity and little or no air movement. Philco research scientists confirmed the reported optimum conditions, and engineering development work designed the compartment which holds to these conditions inside the refrigerator section of the combination refrigerator-freez-

Philoo laboratory and home economics tests showed that safe holding times in the "Air compartment ranged" compartment ranged from 11 days for fresh meats to 10 days for leftovers and 14 days for fresh vegetables. Ground round steak remained fresh and edible for nine days. The United States Testing Laboratories confirmed the results of the Philco tests.

In a "family-of-four" week long menu test all food on the seventh day was in good condition. The foods in the test were ground round steak, pork chops, round steak, chicken, bologna, celery, lettuce, parsley, tomatoes, whipped cream, mashed potatoes and a ham sandwich and all were as fresh and tout and all were as fresh and tasteful as the day the test began.

The "Air Wrap" compartment is in Model 18RM08, a 17.6 cubic foot capacity model with a 10.9 cubic foot refrigerator area and a 6.7 cubic foot frostless freezer. The styling and design of this model have enabled Philco to incorporate this capacity re-frigerator-freezer within the cabinet limitations of a conven-tional design 16 cubic foot refrigerator-freezer. The "Air Wrap" model uses a system for automatically de-frosting the freezer based upon the running time of the compressor so that needless defrosting is eliminated. The defrost water is quickly evaporatored as it is collected in a pan beneath the cabinet.

The frostless freezer feature is also used in Model 14RM08, a 13.5 cubic foot combination refrigerator-freezer. A convertible freezer compartment is featured in Model 14RD08 which may be used as a freezer or as a normal refrigerator compartment. The ice cube area is sealed off from the compartment so that it is not affected by the normal refrigerator temperator temperature which above 32 degrees. The Model 14RD08 is a 13.6 cubic foot capacity refrigerator and the freezer is 3.25 cubic feet. When the freezer is used as a refriger-

Versatile New Washers, Dryers

Versatile new 1960 washers and dryers, which will launder anything from delicate, filmy lingerie to diapers or heavy work clothes automatically, are being introduced across the country by Frigidaire division of General

Announcement of the new automatic home laundry equipment was made by Herman F. Lehman, General Motors vice president and Frigidaire's general manager. Mr. Lehman stressed that although completely automatic, the machines are so flexi-ble that the homemaker can wash clothes anyway she chooses. Any phase of the operation can be stopped, shortened, lengthened or skipped at any time.

All new vented dryers in the line feature a new drying system with a full sweep of radiant heat which provides more efficient, faster and more uniform drying than ever before. A new handy lint trap, especially easy to remove and clean, fits inside the door of these dryers.

There are seven new washers and five new dryers in the new 1960 laundry product line. A wash-and-wear cycle is a convenience feature that has been incorporated into all new Frigidaire washers and dryers from budget to top line models.

Newest design idea in Frigitruly automatic soak and wash cycle for laundering such items as diapers or heavily soiled work clothes. Set a control and the machine soaks the clothes, then automatically washes, rinses and spins them damp-dry. The automatic soak cycle can be used for laundering weelens, blankets and laundering woolens, blankets and the finest Cashmere sweaters.

Two separate wash-and-wear cycles, one for colorfast cottons and the other for man-made fabrics, provides additional flexibility of operation for the homemaker.

Still another highlight is the laundry aids dispenser. Not only can the homemaker bleach clothes safely without fear of bleach-burn, the machine will clothes automatically well. Bleach, dye, soap, detergents, rinse conditioners and fabric softeners are automatically distributed underwater at the proper time.

To operate the new top line Custom Imperial washer, all the homemaker has to do is set the controls for the kind of fabric, degree of soil and size of load. The machine does the rest, selecting the proper wash and rinse water temperature, agitator and spin speeds and washing time. Easy to read and use is a new touch-bar selector, which determines the proper washing cycle for any type of fabric. New cold water wash, rinse and soak controls add to the simplicity and

Kitchens Have Style, Harmony

Since the end of World War II, it has become increasingly important to meet consumer demands for products designed to suit the change in our living habits. Great strides have been made in the exploration of new materials and manufacturing techniques, making possible bet-ter products for more people at

In home architecture the trend has been to clean and functional design, open type floor plan, and a better use of the space allo-cated to the kitchen. The introduction some years ago of the built-in type of appliances has made it easier to prepare the meals and at the same time provide a setting more appropriate to the change in living habits.

Today, a manufactured product must not only be well made and efficient in operation, but it also must be attractive to the potential consumer. Its form and appearance must reveal its use and its value, and even more important, its quality. The field of industrial design, or product styling, deals with the selection of all the distinguishing features and details of form and color which give to a mass produced product its outward quality.

Good Product Design

One of the most important trends influencing appliance buying today is the public's increasing appreciation and demand for good product design. Today, women first want to be convinced that an appliance is visually suitable for their homes. This means design that is clean-lined and simple—design that reflects current public taste in furniture and interior decoration.

Major kitchen appliances are acquired by the consumer with the thought that they will provide an enhancing and pleasing coordinated ensemble in her kitchen, although they are purchased as individual items.

Regardless of the relative appearance value of one appliance versus the same type appliance produced by the competitor, the homemaker is strongly concerned with obtaining appliances having an appearance that matches or harmonizes in a coordinated manner. If we assume that this is what she wants, then we as designers should endeavor to arrive for a strong family resem-blance and coordinated look for related products.

Obviously, this does not mean that each of the products that go into a kitchen or laundry must look exactly alike. In the first place, this is impossible because of the different functions requiring different forms, size, and visual appearance. There are, however, many areas where certain basic family resemblances between products can be obtained if we realize in early planning stages that this is an important factor, providing many distinct advantages to the con-

Design Variation

Contemporary design does not call for all products of a given kind to be identical in appearance. Within the accepted appearance norm for a product, many design variations are possible. This design variation will allow the designer to set a style of design appearance in appliances that differs from other brands and yet falls within the accepted norm for the time cycle.

All things being equal, prod-ucts that are well designed appearancewise will be better accepted by the homemaker than those that are not. In our present day economy when the opportunity to choose from so many good products is greater than ever before, the homemaker will, I am sure, buy the products where the appearance satisfies her requirements. If this visual appeal is right, it will reflect in most definite way also the built-in quality in engineering, workmanship and materials. This is the kind of good product design that should provide maximum visual appeal for each appliance as well as the finest coordinated look of the total kitchthree people between the ages of 40 and 64 will have a retired parent or other close relative

At present, the figure is one in three.

These figures certainly support the committee's claim that the problem of America's older population is a growing one. What does the committee think should be done about the problem?

Here are some of its recommendations

Enact legislation in 1960 to include health service benefits in the social security program.

In 40 years, two of every the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare set minimum standards which would be considered a "floor" for state standards in their supervision of homes caring for patients who get federal public assistance grants.

The committee also suggested that Congress adopt a program of financial help to nursing homes which meet minimum standards.

Increase old-age insurance for beneficiaries. Raise the minimum benefit from $33 to at least $50 a month.

Ban age discrimination in hiring through state law. (Seven states already have such laws.) Enact legislation requiring contractors and subcontractors of Uncle Sam to review their personnel policies and cut out all forms of employment discrimination because of age.

Authorize legislation to increase by 10,000 units per year, for a minimum of five years, the current authorization of federally aided public housing.
